Latin Grammy Award-Winning Musician
Raul Jaurena

Raul Jaurena, master of the Tango, is among today's most prominent bandoneon players. Thanks to his father who introduced him to the instrument at age eight, his music plays a very personal tribute to the influences of his native South America and his adopted hometown of New York. It combines the traditional roots of the tango and the style of the "TangoNuevo" influenced by Astor Piazzolla.

As a member of and adaptor for various renowned tango-ensembles in the nineteen sixties and seventies in Uruguay, Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Ecuador and Venezuela, Raul Jaurena laid the tracks for his career. A performance together with Astor Piazzolla at the Montreal Jazz Festival turned out to be a positive guide for his musical development.

In 1995, he received an invitation to the White House and received a Grammy nomination for his CD, Tango Bar. In 2007 he won a Latin Grammy Award for Best Tango Album, Te amo Tango.

He has played with Cuban Jazz saxophone player Paquito D'Rivera, cellist Yo Yo Ma, Argentine-born Israeli clarinetist Giora Feidman and others throughout his prolific career.

As a soloist he performs a series of Klezmer and Tango music with prominent ensembles and orchestras throughout Europe including Hannover, Hamburg, Heidelberg, and Bonn.

He was invited as a special guest to the International Accordion Festival in San Antonio, Texas and his show Tango & Tango was met with great success at the Ravinia Festival in Chicago.

As the result of a continuing search for new experiences, Jaurena's music has turned into something truly unique. It reflects the influences of different cultures as well as one hundred years of tango history with all its contradicting emotions.

Raul Jaurena - the man that Astor Piazzolla once called one of the greatest bandoneon players ever - has established a unique connection to his instrument: Genuine, open, touching, with stunning technical brilliance his play has enriched and added an important facet to modern tango interpretation.
